Exciting news!!!! It is with great excitement that I can tell you all that Broad Square is getting a Mini-bus. We have wanted one for a long time, now, thanks to the wonderful fundraising efforts that the families of Broad Square have helped with we are able to get one. It is due to arrive next week. How exciting is this - Mrs Foden needs to get her parking practise in!!

Reception places for September 2026 - If your child, family member or friend is due to start school in September please apply via the LCC website.

Broad Square Reading

As we dive into the exciting world of reading this term, here are a few tips to help you support your child at home! Firstly, set aside some dedicated reading time each day. Even just ten minutes can make a real difference. Allow your child to choose their books—this helps spark their interest and enthusiasm for reading!

Try to make reading interactive; ask questions about the story or encourage them to predict what happens next. You could also have reading competitions or even family book clubs! These activities can make reading a fun, shared experience.

In school we encourage our children to read in a number of ways, we send home reading books linked to the reading scheme, also a reading for pleasure book. Children have daily reading or phonics lessons as well as interventions when needed. Reading is intertwined into all of our learning.

Happy reading!

Spotlight on curriculum

Today all children, from Nursery to year 6, have enjoyed completing their Children in Need obstacle course. Not only did they have great fun but we raised a great amount of money for Children in Need and our school fund. Check out our Instagram for photos of this.

Our year 3 pupils this week visited The Palm House at Sefton Park, they planted flowers and decorated Christmas decorations. Our year 1 pupils had a walk to Norris Green Park to observe the change in seasons. As always our children behaved beautifully and represented our school well.

Anti-Bullying Week

This week, our school has been taking part in Anti-Bullying Week, and this year's theme is "Use your super-power". It reminds us that each one of us has a special super-power - whether it's kindness, courage, listening, or being a friend and we can use it to make our school and our community a better place.

Over the weekend, we invite everyone to practise their super-power: perhaps by including someone new in a game, saying a kind word when they notice someone feeling left out, or simply being brave enough to speak up when something isn't fair. Together, our super-powers can help stop bullying and make sure everyone feels safe, valued, and happy.

Talk about why you believe this story became news across the UK this week.

Is it a good idea for world leaders to meet this way? Why?

What do you notice about climate change?

What kinds of things can we do to help with climate change?

Let's look at this week's story

The 2025 United Nations Climate Change Conference, known as COP30, will be held in Belém, Brazil, from 10th to 21st November. At the meeting, country leaders and experts will discuss how to protect the planet by reducing pollution, saving forests and working together. After the meeting, countries will need to share how they will keep the climate promises they made, and stay on target to meet their goals.

UN Rights of a Child

Events such as COP30 enable both young people and adults to share ideas about how to protect the planet. Children have the right to speak up about what matters to them, and adults should listen to their ideas with care and respect.

Rule of Law

At COP30, world leaders will agree on rules for countries to follow to protect the planet. Fair rules help nations work together to solve problems and care for the world we share.

Protected Characteristics

People from many countries and backgrounds will meet at COP30. Everyone, whatever their race or culture, should have the chance to share ideas and care for the world we live in.
